

EP 09 – Resolution on Moldova and the Transdnistrian conflict

5 Acknowledging the EU's special attention given to Moldova as direct neighbour emerged after the enlargement process and its contribution for their democratic development.

10 Taking into consideration that Moldova is deemed to be an important part of the European Neighbourhood Policy, EU's support to this country is of utmost significance for the security, stability and prosperity of the region as part of Europe and a direct neighbour to the EU.

15 Concerned that such problems as low security, unsafe frontiers and internal instability that portray the region are, at this time durable and unsettled.

Therefore JEF-Europe:

- 20 - Welcomes the support offered to Moldova regarding the settlement of the Transdnistrian conflict, thus increasing EU's contribution to conflict resolution and peace building;
- 25 - Considers that the opening of the European Commission delegation to Moldova will foster EU- Moldovan relations and will ensure a harmonised approach to a more efficient Action Plan's implementation;
- 30 - Believes that the ongoing conflict in Transdnistria merits special attention and further contribution to the endorsement of democratic reforms in the area;
- 35 - Calls for deeper economic integration accompanied by the promotion of sustainable development and poverty reduction, as well as a less complicated visa regime;
- Welcomes the initiative to integrate Moldova into EU guidelines such as youth policy;
- Urges EU to push on becoming a full right party in the negotiation process in the Transdnistrian problem;
- 40 - Believes that civil society plays a significant role in the building of a democratic, stable society and therefore subsidies given to NGO's from Moldova are highly esteemed.
